I had a bad day today.

I bought a toy cat from a toy shop yesterday. The toy cat was cute. It was one hundred dollars. I felt excited because the toy cat could do many things. The toy cat could say 'Hello!'. I felt amazed. It could also clap hands. I liked it so much and wanted to let my friends see it.

I put my toy cat in my big school bag this morning. Then, I walked to school happily.

My classmates discovered my toy cat and all wanted to play with it. But during the chaos, the toy cat fell to the ground and broke. I was very sad and realized I shouldn't have brought it to school.
