

A theft

Hu Ka Tung, Thomas (6B)

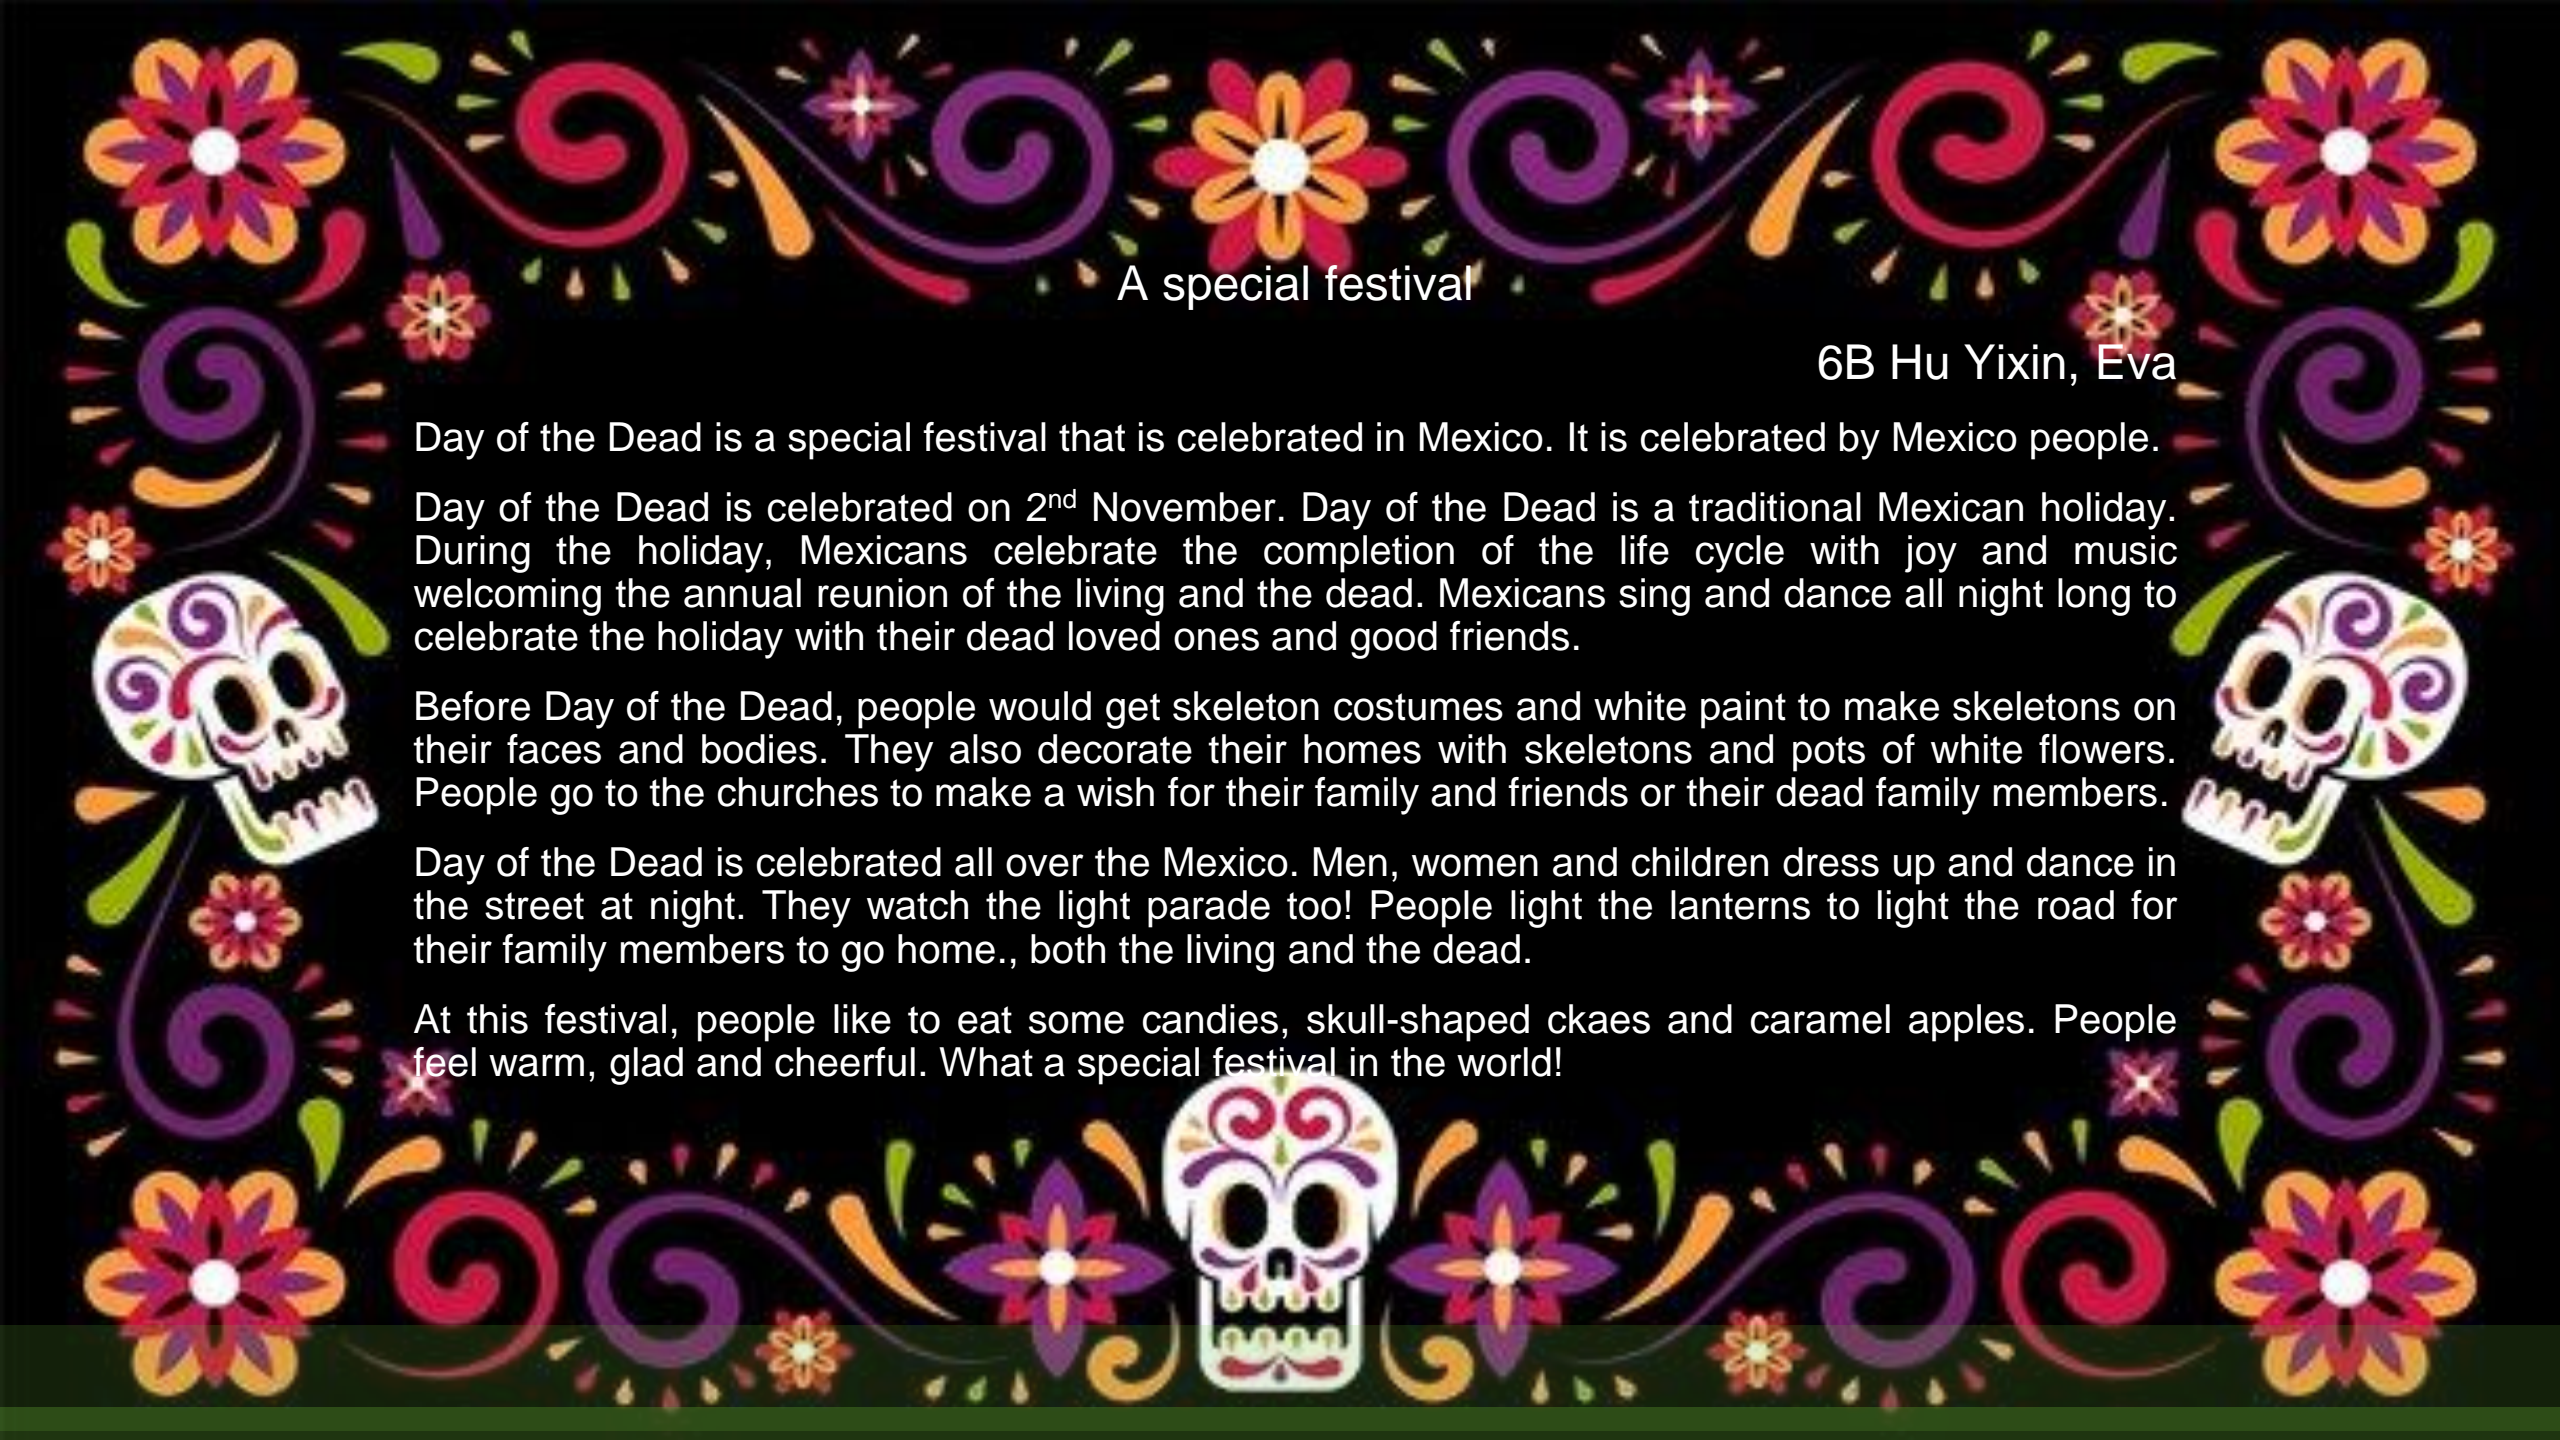

Last week, Sandy was enjoying a delicious strawberry-flavoured ice cream, walking along Fressia Street. All of a sudden, a strange man bumped into her. She dropped her ice cream on the floor.

The man did not stop running. Sandy shook a fist at him and glanced at him angrily. 'Why do you do this? My ice cream is ruined now,' she shouted at the man but he didn't respond to her. Sandy was furious! The man was carrying a handbag and rushed into a shopping centre. She did not know why he was in a rush. Was he trying to save someone?

At that time, Sandy looked at her messy ice cream sadly. Suddenly, a police officer came and told her to describe the man who bumped into her. That rude man was a thief! 'He was in a blue T-shirt, green shorts and sandals. He has messy brown hair and was with sunglasses,' Sandy said to the police officer. He thanked her and went into the shopping centre at once.

In the end, the police officer arrested the thief. 'Wait a minute, whose red handbag is this?' Sandy asked the police officer. 'It belongs to a woman called Miss Wong,' he responded. 'Oh, that's my mum's! No wonder it looks so familiar!' Sandy said as she laughed. The police officer gave the handbag to her. Sandy returned it to her mum.

A decorative border with colorful flowers, swirls, and skulls. The border features large, stylized flowers in shades of purple, orange, and red, interspersed with purple and red swirls. Small, colorful skulls are also scattered throughout the design. The background is black, making the vibrant colors stand out.

A special festival

6B Hu Yixin, Eva

Day of the Dead is a special festival that is celebrated in Mexico. It is celebrated by Mexico people.

Day of the Dead is celebrated on 2nd November. Day of the Dead is a traditional Mexican holiday. During the holiday, Mexicans celebrate the completion of the life cycle with joy and music welcoming the annual reunion of the living and the dead. Mexicans sing and dance all night long to celebrate the holiday with their dead loved ones and good friends.

Before Day of the Dead, people would get skeleton costumes and white paint to make skeletons on their faces and bodies. They also decorate their homes with skeletons and pots of white flowers. People go to the churches to make a wish for their family and friends or their dead family members.

Day of the Dead is celebrated all over the Mexico. Men, women and children dress up and dance in the street at night. They watch the light parade too! People light the lanterns to light the road for their family members to go home., both the living and the dead.

At this festival, people like to eat some candies, skull-shaped cakes and caramel apples. People feel warm, glad and cheerful. What a special festival in the world!