

9th April, 2024

Cloudy

I am seven years old. A few months ago, I could not tie my shoelaces or bake cookies by myself. My sister, Sally, felt annoyed and angry. She said, 'You are seven years old. You need to do things by yourself.' I decided to make some changes.

Luckily, my mum was willing to teach me how to tie shoelaces and bake cookies. 30 minutes later, I knew how to tie shoelaces and bake cookies. It was easy. In the beginning, I thought it would be difficult. But it was easy instead.

Now, Dad and Mum are happy. Dad says, 'I do not know my son can do things better than me.' Mum says, 'You are my good son!'

I have learned many things. I am happy!

