I went to the park after lunch today. I went to the park with my dog, Lucky. I thought he was so smart that he could learn a lot of tricks quickly. We had a good time of playing games near the bushes.

Suddenly, a robber with a mask jumped out from the bushes and shouted, 'Give me all your money!' I was very scared of him because he used a knife to point at me. Then I said, 'Lucky, attack him!' Lucky rushed to the robber and bit his leg at once. The robber was in pain and dropped his knife carelessly. I called the police and the robber was shocked.

When the policemen came, they saw the robber on the street and caught him. Lucky saved me today and I bought him a hamburger to thank him. He is my loyal friend!
